On NSC Directives, you said "Let's consider starting from scratch".

We will fall in a completely new look at the NSCID's in PRM II.

NSC has returned all of them to us.

Sam

MEMORANDUM FOR: Admiral Stansfield Turner, USN

FROM :  Deputy to the DCI for the Intelligence Community

STAT

SUBJECT : Status of National Security Council Intelligence Directives (NSCIDs)

1. Reference is your question as to the status of the NSCIDs, and whether they have been provided to the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence.

2. The latest set of published NSCIDs, issued in February 1972, has been provided to the SSCI by the NSC Staff. A precedent had been set when the NSCIDs were provided to Senator Church's investigating committee.

3. Executive Order 11905, issued in February 1976, required that all NSCIDs be updated to conform with the provision of the Order within 90 days. The Committee on Foreign Intelligence sent a revised set of NSCIDs to the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs on 19 May 1976.

4. At that time, however, a Freedom of Information Act request for declassification and release of all NSCIDs was in court on appeal, so the NSC Staff deferred action on the revised NSCIDs pending outcome of the appeal.

5. As a result of the court action, the then-existing NSCIDs Nos. 1, 2, 3, 5, and portions of 6 and 8 were declassified. The NSC Staff then returned the revised NSCIDs to the CFI and requested further review in the light of the FOIA action.

6. On 8 September 1976 the CFI again submitted the updated NSCIDs to the NSC with a request they be approved and promulgated.

7. The NSC has not yet acted.

8. As a result, the 1972 NSCIDs still have not been replaced, even though they do not reflect provisions of Executive Order 11905, and, in particular, include treatment on bodies which no longer exist--such as the National Security Council Intelligence Committee, United States Intelligence Board and Intelligence Resources Advisory Council.
